FORD'S OPERA HOUSE. Mr. Miln appeared at Ford's last evening as srtuccio, in Taylor's popular play, "The faith with St. Louis county they would Fool's Revenge." The character is one in which this rising young actor is seen to particular ad-vantage—in fact, he rises to a state of tragic greatness which he has not heretofore dishave controlled the road to-day, and their stock of $4,000,000 would pay them greatness which he has not heretofore dis-played. His scone with Torreli, in the last act, where he begs permission to witness his own child's downtail in order to avert her ruin, was worked to a state of intensity that took the au-dience by storm. His acting in this scene and the subsequent one is terrible in its reality, and evoked rounds of deatening appliance. Miss Addiel Papa as Francesca made an ideal pic-ture of the jealous Italian wife, and threw much pathos and conscientious effect into her interpretation. She displays true artistic abli-ity by not overacting the part. At the close of the second act both Mr. Miln and Miss Paya were presented with handsome form tributes. There has been a great deal said in the newspapers about the bad faith of Garrison toward these stockholders. But the history of this case when truthfully written will show that the original bad faith which resulted in this great sacrifice was occasioned by the failure of the New York stockholders to fulfill their solemn obligations with the county court the second act both Mr. Miln and Miss Payn were presented with handsome floral tributes. LOUISIANA POLITICS.

Dental of Charges Made Against Maj.

Burke's Democracy. EDITOR NATIONAL REPUBLICAN: A emmunication appeared in THE NA-TIONAL REPUBLICAN of the 21st instant relative to Louisiana politics. In that communication the writer undertook to make it appear that the factional divisions in the Louisiana Democracy operated a separation of all the respectaility and intelligence of the party from all the vicious and disreputable elements. tended to promote their "spiritual welfare." How, then, are they to be enightened upon this point? Miulsters who undertake to find in the slaughter of thousands of men an agency that is to contribute to the spiritual welfare of the heathen should be prepared to specifically point out where the measure of benefit familiar with Louisiana politics will know how to appraise the reliability and locate the animus of this amazing statement, and it may safely be left to them for judgment. But in the course of the communication referred to there are cortain specific charges made against Maj. E. A. Burke's Democracy which in simple fairly assumed to voice the opinions generally entertained by business men, thinks "that in view of the threatening character of the news from abroad and the almost certainty that war will break out sooner or later, our Navy Department ought to take immediate steps to strengthen itself."

The News says further that "we have tory few war vessels that could be used to protect American interests, and it is secretary of the Democratic senate. Clarkson Potter, the chairman of the committee. Subsequently Maj. Burke was nominated and elected by the regular Democratic party to high and responsible offices in 1874, in 1875, and again in 1884.

It is only fair to say that Maj. Burke never in his life voted for or acted with the Republican party, but has, on the courtrary, ever since his first appearance in politics, in 1872, been an earnest, sincere, and loyal Democrat.

Mr. Bayard's Blunders. It is useless to deny that Mr. Bayard has not made blunder after blunder in his diplomatic appointments. Two general ideas seem to dominate them. These are blue blood and southern affiliations. Of the many appointments made by him four-fifths are from the southern states. four-lifths are from the southern states. There possibly can be ne objection to this, but in his selection of men from this quarter he has wholly ignored the voice of the representative men of the south, and made his selections for personal reasons. So far as politics is concerned Mr. Bayard thus far has simply thrown away Bayard thus far has simply thrown away the patronage of the State Department.
